

ResearchAbstract

Profile:

WebEx Communications, Inc.

WebEx: Taking Conferencing to the Business Communications Summit

April 2002

By focusing on building a conferencing utility-grade infrastructure designed to deliver business communications services, WebEx has pulled away to become the leader in data-rich online business meetings. The private-network infrastructure approach - uniquely used by WebEx - is ideally suited for live, data-rich business communications.

This Profile examines WebEx Meeting Center, as well as the following two specialized services: WebEx OnCall for live, remote, hands-on customer technical support and WebEx OnStage for large online events and Web seminars. A third specialized service, WebEx Training Center, rolls out in April 2002 to address the considerable market for internal training.

Peter S. Kastner

Click here to read this report

conferencing, online conferences, PowerPoint, WebEx, meetings, productivity, applications, training, e-learning, business communications, videoconference, web training, private networks, Internet infrastructure, telecommunications, collaboration